WELCOME

My dear colleagues,

I have the privilege and great honour to invite the fellow members of the Balkan Medical Union to participate at the 33rd Balkan Medical Week. As doctors of different specialties we have done our best to serve our countries well and, in time, this has brought us together to build an ideal which crossed geographic borders and united us in a big Balkan medical family.

This year's event will focus on the topic of "Interdisciplinary and updates in the Balkan medicine" and will be organized in collaboration with the Central Military Emergency Hospital, the Romanian Society for Trauma and Emergency Surgery and the Balkan Military Medical Committee. The main topics of the Balkan week are: medical emergencies, surgery and trauma emergency, emergency military medicine in crisis situations, difficulties and issues in the Balkan medical field, public health and varia.

The complexity of the topics discussed during our event is a good opportunity to bring together doctors from different Balkan countries. The great scientific value of the topics discussed will be enriched by the opportunity to discuss and set up new connections for further collaborations with specialists from these countries.

I wish all our colleagues from our country and from our befriended countries a very warm welcome to Bucharest!

Prof. Daniela BARTOŞ MD, PhD
President of Romanian Section of Balkan Medical Union

WELCOME

Dear colleagues, friends,

It is my pleasure and honour to remember you that the 4th Edition of Dr. Carol Davila Universitary Emergency Military Hospital Scientific Days will be hosted by the National Military Circle on 8th to 11th October 2014.

This scientific conference, already well known from previous editions, achieved a prestigious place in the scientific realm of Romanian military medicine, being presently with no doubt the most significant event both from scientific and participants' points of view.

Last year, our Conference took place together with the First National Conference of Military Physicians; present edition brings several new strong points, not only by thursdayning the 33rd Week of Balkan Medical Union, but mostly because of its rich scientific program. The first day will be dedicated only to pre-congress courses, in the fields of general surgery, cardiology and gastroenterology. Speakers coming from Italy, Austria, Turkey, FYROM, Moldova and Serbia will cover pretty much all that is new and need to be known. So, the performances and experience of our military physicians will be communicated to a broader audience, and the blending with civilian physicians' experience from some of the most prestigious hospitals in Balkans will facilitate new professional relationships, in the benefit of doctors and patients altogether.

The general topic of the conference is: Interdisciplinarity and actualities in Balkan medicine.

It is important to specify that the abstracts will be published in the supplement of Archives of the Balkan Medical Union.

Being once again sure of the scientific and professional value of all our colleagues work, we strongly invite you to participate to this scientific conference, as an extraordinary opportunity to gain up to date information, continuous medical education and high level professional opinions.
